WHALE WATCHING

Beverly Beach is within just a few miles of six excellent year-round whale watching viewpoints:

- Cape Foulweather
- Devil’s Punch Bowl State Natural Area
- Rocky Creek State Scenic Viewpoint
- Depoe Bay Seawall
- Boiler Bay State Scenic Viewpoint
- Yaquina Head

Stop by those sites during late December and mid-March for the annual Whale Watch Weeks. Trained volunteers will be there to help you spot Gray whales as they migrate in the thousands past Oregon’s coast.

The Whale Watching Center, located just north of the U.S. Highway 101 bridge in Depoe Bay, is the hub for all things whales on the coast.

MORE TO SEE

Yaquina Head Outstanding Natural Area features trails, tidepools, a visitor center and close-up views of seabird nesting sites. Tours of the Yaquina Head lighthouse are offered during July and August only. Reserve your spot ahead of time via recreation.gov.

Newport offers charter boats, launching and moorage facilities, and boat and equipment rentals. Crabbing and clamming are popular activities. The historic bayfront has restaurants, shopping, art galleries, a maritime museum, and a waxworks.

Depoe Bay, north of Cape Foulweather, has boating facilities, a charter boat fleet, and a spouting horn, which emits a geyser-like spray when ocean waves surge into the tunneled rock formations.

PLAY IT SAFE ON THE BEACH!

Stay off logs, know the tide schedule, and don’t turn your back on the ocean.
